A perusal of the official pitching averages of the National League makes it plain how the Phillies won the pennant. The record of Alexander, the league's star pitcher, explains how it happened. Alexander won thirty-one games and lost but ten. Incidentally these figures also tell the story of why the Giants finished last. The absofute failure of Mathewson put the McGraw team out of the running. Matty figured in only twenty-seven games. He won eight and lost fourteen, and was very near the bottom in the averages. The importance of having a great pitcher on a team was never better illustrated than in the victory of the Phillies and the absolute failure of got two games of more than 500 each

Toney is likely to have an even better season in 1916, for the very good reason that last season was the first in his career that he displayed perfect control, and he undoubtedly will start with this essential requisite in the next campaign.

Gavvy Cravath, the Phillies' slugger, probably surprised a lot of folks by his ability to draw passes, leading the Phillies. Toney is likely to have an

Because of the many conflicting reports which have been started by the Feds anent their invasion of New York, the doubt that there is anything substantial doing in this venture is growing all over the base ball circuits.

Here are a few reports which puzzle: Jennings to manage the New York Feds.

Patiure of the American League pitching averages to show the number of games the twirlers of the Johnson league won and lost has proved a bitter disappointment to those patrons of the game who judge a pitcher's value for his team by the results of his games. Just why the American League failed to give these figures is not clear. John Heydler, the National League statistician, not only gave the victories and

Many of the club owners of the Federal League are going to insist that the old price scale be adopted at the coming meeting of the league. It is argued that the ten-cent admission scheme is a detriment not only to the owners of the club, but that it cheapens the game and will eventually mean the undoing of the league.

Owner Gwinner of Pittsburgh says the public will judge the caliber of Fed ball at too low a standard if they can see the games for 10 cents, and he wants the old prices to prevail in the first game, when 516 pins were upset. Farrow got the highest game by an individual.

The Indians took two out of three from Security in the Mount Pleasant circuit. Notwithstanding the victory of the Indians, a member of the Security five obtained the best scores made by the players, Primm rolling for counts of 108, 117 and 115.

All the interest in the Federal League has centered about New York. The Brooklyn franchise seems to have been entirely forgotten. Weeghman and his Chicago pennant winners seem to have been altogether ignored and all things — e promised for New York.

The New York papers seem to have reasons for believing that the whole story of the Fed invasion has nothing for an object but a bluff, which it is hoped will bring about peace.

Alvin C. Kraenzlein Likely Pennsylvania Track Coach

PHILADELPHIA. December 7.

It was reported on good authority at the University of Pennsylvania last night that Alvin C. Kraenzlein, the former Pennsylvania hurdler, who holds both the vania hurdler, who holds both the 120 and 220 yard hurdle records in the litercollegiate and Olympic contests, will succeed George Orton, the present track coach, who has decided to enter business.

Kraenzlein has coached at Mercersberg and Michigan, where he achieved a considerable reputation. Two years ago he was appointed by the German government to take charge of its men for the Olympics, and he did much to arouse athletic enthusiasm in that country. The war, however, compelled his return to this country.

Last year he was mentioned as trainer of the Pennsylvania eleven, but as there was opposi-tion his name was withdrawn.

Manager Griffith Not Deterred by Failure to Lease Old Fraternity House.

Comparison of Averages Shows Detroit's Outfield Excelled That of the Red Sox.

BY J. ED GRILLO.

The fact that Manager Griffith has been unable to lease the fraternity players have occupied during the previ ous stays at the Virginia town during their spring training, does not mean that Charlottesville will be abandoned as the Nationals' training quarters. There is a fraternity house next doo the Nationals for the past two springs Manager Griffith intends to send Train next few days to determine what sor f arrangements can be made.

There appears to be not the slightest his choice of training quarters. He will go to Charlottesville in preference ously objectionable would have to de velop before he would think of going elsewhere to train.

The provisions of the rule Manager Griffith will propose at the coming meeting of the American League to govern the sale of players from one clue in the league to another, are very sales by forcing a club which wants to get rid of a player to first ask waivers from all the other clubs. If any club refuses to waive the owners cancompelled to sell. If more than one club puts in a claim for such a player, they must decide by drawing lots for the player, and all players so chosen are to net but $2,500 to the club parting with them.

Speaker, Lewis and Hooper are no doubt a most valuable trio for an outfield, but when one stops to look at what Cobb, Crawford and Veach accomplished for the Detroit Tigers in the last campaign then Boston's famous trio does not look as good.

True. Carrigan's outfield may have something on the Tigers' trio when it comes to fielding and throwing, but as to real productive value there is no comparison.
